

3 KEY REASONS TO STUDY ONLINE

Apprehensive about online graduate programs?

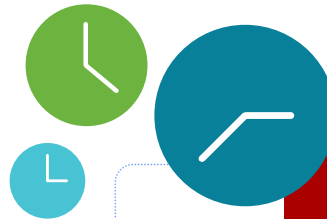

Check out our top 3 reasons to choose online.

Real Connections, Made Digitally

Advances in technology have breathed new life into online learning, as video conferencing software and increasingly robust learning management systems have made direct contact with faculty a snap and created vibrant forums for group work and class discussions.

These advances can have real, meaningful impact on the relationships that define your personal and professional life.

A Valuable Education Values Your Time

One of the major barriers to entry for many considering a graduate-level degree is the amount of time required to attend class and complete homework assignments. Online education by and large solves this problem with asynchronous coursework that can be completed whenever your schedule most easily allows.

Bring Your Classroom To You

Historically, geography has been a major factor limiting the opportunity for graduate study for many people to a relatively small set of nearby colleges and universities. Having online options breaks down this barrier by putting a broad spectrum of educational choices at your fingertips.
