      “WHEREAS, the Seattle University Board of Trustees adopted a resolution approving the Strategic Directions for Seattle University 2020-2025: A Jesuit University of Distinction for a Time of Change (the “Strategic Directions”);
      WHEREAS, goal one of the Strategic Directions is to reimagine and revise the University’s curriculum and includes a review of the University’s portfolio of academic programs;
      WHEREAS, goal five of the Strategic Directions is to reposition the University for change and includes making difficult decisions to significantly change or end programs where appropriate;
      WHEREAS, the Seattle University Strategic Planning Council is charged with leading the implementation of the Strategic Directions, including prioritizing the potential strategic initiatives, developing implementation working groups, creating appropriate metrics for evaluation and monitoring, and reporting to the University community on the progress of the plan;
      WHEREAS, the Strategic Planning Council established the Academic Program Portfolio Review (“APPR”) working group to help fulfill commitments in the University’s Strategic Directions to reimagine and revise the University’s curriculum and to change or end programs where appropriate;
      WHEREAS, APPR is charged with designing and implementing a process, through shared governance, to assess the University’s portfolio of academic programs and make recommendations, including program elimination, to transition to a portfolio that ensures mission fulfillment and financial sustainability;
      WHEREAS, Section XI.B of the Seattle University Faculty Handbook provides that “[t]he University may reduce or eliminate an educational program (i.e., a minor, major, certificate, concentration, or specialization), degree program, or department for reasons pertaining to low enrollment, low productivity, inadequate academic quality, or in support of the aims of the University strategic planning”;
      WHEREAS, Section XI.B of the Seattle University Faculty Handbook also provides that the Academic Assembly of Seattle University (the “AcA”), deans, and appropriate faculty governance bodies at the school or college level will be involved in the review process for “program, degree program, or department reduction or elimination”;

WHEREAS, there is need to clarify the process for AcA, deans, and faculty governance bodies at the school or college level to review the APPR recommendations;

BE IT RESOLVED, the APPR moves that the AcA pass a resolution supporting the following:

The AcA agrees to the following process for the review of APPR recommendations which will occur after APPR has completed its charge:

1. APPR is authorized to initiate recommendations for the suspension or closure of academic programs at Seattle University during the term of its existence.

2. During the term of its existence the APPR process supersedes the usual role of PRC which is limited to reviewing proposals to end programs that ordinarily are initiated by the Deans, Schools or Colleges, as described in the Bylaws and Chart of Authorities.

3. All APPR preliminary recommendations regarding academic programs in a school or college will be provided to the dean and appropriate faculty governance body at the school or college.

4. The dean and faculty governance body will each review the APPR preliminary recommendations, and the dean and faculty governance body will each submit to APPR a written response to the APPR recommendations.

5. Based on its review of the response from each school/college, APPR will produce a supplemental comment that affirms and/or modifies its preliminary recommendations.

6. APPR will embed the school/college responses and its supplemental comments into a final report and recommendations and submit this to AcA and send the supplemental comment to each dean for information.

7. AcA will review and consider the APPR final report and recommendation which includes responses from deans, responses from school or college faculty governance bodies, and APPR’s supplemental comments.

8. AcA will write a response to APPR’s recommendations and submit it to the Provost.

9. The Provost will make recommendations to the President and Board of Trustees informed by the APPR final report and recommendations (which includes responses from deans, responses from school or college faculty governance bodies, and APPR’s supplemental comments) and AcA’s response to APPR’s recommendations. AcA members discussed the motion."
