

Food Recovery Network student opportunity with Redhawk Dining

Redhawk Dining is dedicated to reducing food waste and does so through innovative ways such as food recovery. Currently, Redhawk Dining donates surplus food to a local non-profit called Operation Sack Lunch who serves those in need located in the greater Seattle area. Redhawk Dining Dietitian and Sustainability Manager, Brianna Ballard, is looking to build a student leadership team to help recover this surplus food. Volunteer your time to join the food recovery team as three positions are currently open as the President, Food Donor Coordinator, and Volunteer Coordinator. Brief details of each position are listed below. If interested, please reach out to Brianna Ballard at brianna.ballard@compass-usa.com

President

- Supports the leadership team
- Schedules and facilitates meetings
- Ensures all steps are taken to remain an organization on-campus
- Serve as point of contact

Food Donor Coordinator

- Ensures tracking form is completed after every recovery
- Works with team to coordinate events and promotion of services beyond recoveries
- Provides updates and manages food recovery schedule

Volunteer Coordinator

- Recruits volunteers
- Ensures all volunteers are briefed in food safety
- Manages volunteer schedules