Research Interests

Cooperation and defiance in individuals' interactions with the justice system. Toward this end, my work has focused on emotions and crime, radicalization, procedural and restorative justice, racial / ethnic profiling (African Americans, Latinos, Muslim Americans), police / community relations (e.g., police officer as "guardian"), final statements of the condemned, and social media and criminal justice. Publications have appeared in outlets to include Criminology, Justice Quarterly, Deviant Behavior, Policing, the Journal of Quantitative Criminology, and the Harvard Executive Session on Policing and Public Safety. I am also co-editor of Doing Ethnography in Criminology: Discovery through Fieldwork (Springer), Envisioning Criminology: Researchers on Research as a Process of Discovery (Springer) and Race, Ethnicity, and Policing (NYU Press). My scholarship has been featured in public outlets to include The Final Report of The President's Task Force on 21st Century Policing, The Washington Post, The Atlantic, and The New York Times.
