Our curriculum is interdisciplinary, with courses taught by faculty and leading practitioners from federal, state, and local agencies. We emphasize applying coursework to real-world problems. Our MACJ classes meet on weekends and evenings; our Crime Analysis Certificate Program (CACP) is online only. Many of our students are professionals already working in criminal justice programs. Our students learn from the experience and expertise not only of our faculty but of their peers. Throughout our program, we focus on ethics and promoting justice through research, leadership, and service. Our students develop the knowledge to make innovative and responsible decisions that address complex problems.

Our curriculum focuses on statistical analyses of criminal activity, arrests, convictions, and emerging crime patterns. Most students complete the program within two years. The MACJ program offers three optional concentration areas: Criminal Justice Research and Evaluation, Investigative Criminology, and Victimology.

Required Courses
- Advanced Criminological Theory
- Criminal Justice Capstone Seminar
- Criminal Justice Theory
- Criminal Justice Ethics and Decision-making
- Law and Social Control
- Organizational Theory and Analysis in Criminal Justice
- Statistical Analysis

Electives, Sample Topics
- Contemporary Issues in Victimology
- Data and Intelligence Analysis in Criminal Justice
- Investigative Criminology and Offender Profiling
- Qualitative Research Methods in Criminology and Criminal Justice
- Statistics Lab
- Theories and Research in Policing, Courts, Corrections

Students must take ten required courses. They may receive elective credit for community-based research assistantships and internships. We also offer elective credits for practicums with the FBI, Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives (ATF), Drug Enforcement Agency (DEA), the U.S. Marshals Service, and other agencies. Above: At the Monroe Correctional Facility, prisoners joined students in a class on restorative justice.

CERTIFICATE IN CRIME ANALYSIS

This is a 25-credit, all online program that prepares students to use data, including trends in criminal activity, arrests, convictions, and emerging crime patterns. Most students complete the program within one year.

Required Courses
- Advanced Crime Assessment
- Advanced Criminological Theory
- Advanced Research Methods in Criminal Justice
- Crime Mapping
- Data and Intelligence Analysis in Criminal Justice
- Statistics Lab

Students who complete the Crime Analysis Certificate Program and want to earn the MACJ degree must apply and be accepted into the MACJ program. Up to 10 Certificate in Crime Analysis credits will apply to the MACJ degree. For more information about our graduation rates, please go to the website: www.seattleu.edu/artsci/criminal-graduate/cacp.

THE MACJ/JD DEGREE

MACJ students and graduates who also wish to obtain the Certificate in Crime Analysis may apply up to 10 credits of their MACJ courses toward the 25-credit Certificate in Crime Analysis. Complete details are on our website.

THE MACJ/CERTIFICATE PROGRAM

Students must be admitted separately to the School of Law and the College of Arts and Sciences. The joint degree program can usually be completed within a year for full-time students. Complete details are on our website.

> “You can do just about anything you want to do in law enforcement—from corrections officer to victim advocate, to policymaker, to statistical analyst. Small class sizes and accessible faculty helped me get the job I wanted.”
> Kathy Dockins, Office of Professional Standards, Everett Police Department
Our curriculum focuses on statistical analyses of crime data, including trends in criminal activity, arrests, convictions, and emerging crime patterns. Most students come from both recent college graduates and working professionals. Most can complete the program within two years. The MACJ program offers three optional concentration areas: Criminal Justice Research and Evaluation, Investigative Criminology, and Victimology.

Required Courses
- Advanced Criminological Theory
- Advanced Methods in Criminology and Criminal Justice
- Criminal Justice Capstone Seminar
- Criminal Justice Theory
- Criminal Justice Ethics and Decision-making
- Law and Social Control
- Organizational Theory and Analysis in Criminal Justice
- Statistical Analysis

Students must take ten required courses. They may receive elective credit for community-based research assistantships and internships. We also offer elective credits for practicums with the FBI, Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives (ATF), Drug Enforcement Agency (DEA), the U.S. Marshals Service, and other agencies. Above: At the Monroe Correctional Facility, prisoners joined students in a class on restorative justice.

Electives
- Contemporary Issues in Victimology
- Criminal Justice Legislation and Policy
- Critical Criminology
- Data and Intelligence Analysis in Criminal Justice
- Investigative Criminology and Offender Profiling
- Qualitative Research Methods in Criminology and Criminal Justice
- Theories and Techniques of Crime Scene Investigation
- Restorative/Community Justice
- Terrorism and Homeland Security
- The Psychopath
- Typologies of Crime and Criminal Behavior

Students who complete the Crime Analysis Certificate Program and want to earn the MACJ degree must apply and be accepted into the MACJ program. Up to 10 Certificate in Crime Analysis credits will apply to the MACJ degree. For more information about our graduation rates, the median debt of students who completed the program, and other important information, please go to the website: www.seattleu.edu/artsci/criminal-graduate/cacp.

The MACJ/Certificate Program
MACJ students and graduates who also wish to obtain the Certificate in Crime Analysis may apply up to 10 credits of their MACJ courses toward the 25-credit Certificate in Crime Analysis. Complete details are on our website.

The MACJ/ JD Degree
Students must be admitted separately to the School of Law and the College of Arts and Sciences. The joint degree program can usually be completed within a year for full-time students. Complete details are on our website.

“You can do just about anything you want to do in law enforcement—from corrections officer to victim advocate, to policymaker, to statistical analyst. Small class sizes and accessible faculty helped me get the job I wanted.”
Kathy Dockins, Office of Professional Standards, Everett Police Department

www.seattleu.edu/artsci/criminal-graduate
We encourage you to come to an open house to meet our faculty or set up a committee made up of local, state, and federal leaders in the field of criminal justice. Supported in this effort by outstanding scholars, mentors, and a program advisory board, our students develop the knowledge to make innovative and responsible decisions that advance and improve the practice of criminal justice through research, leadership, and service.

Our curriculum is interdisciplinary, with courses taught by faculty and leading practitioners from federal, state, and local agencies. We emphasize applying coursework to real-world problems. Our MACJ classes meet on weekends and evenings; our Crime Analysis Certificate Program (CACP) is online only. Many of our students are professionals already working in the field, and they bring their rich experience to the classroom. Most can complete the program within two years.

The MACJ program offers three optional concentration areas: Criminal Justice Research and Evaluation, Investigative Criminology, and Victimology.

Students must take ten required courses. They may elect to do one internship or research assistantship, and they may apply up to 10 credits of their MACJ courses toward the 25-credit Certificate in Crime Analysis. Complete details are on our website.

CRIME ANALYSIS CERTIFICATE PROGRAM

The Crime Analysis Certificate Program (CACP) is a 25-credit, all online program that prepares students for successful careers as crime analysts. Our curriculum focuses on statistical analyses of crime data, including trends in criminal activity, arrests, convictions, and emerging crime patterns. Most students complete the program within one year.

REQUIRED COURSES

Advanced Crime Assessment
Advanced Criminological Theory
Advanced Research Methods in Criminology and Criminal Justice
Crime Mapping
Data and Intelligence Analysis in Criminal Justice
Statistical Analysis
Statistics Lab

Students who complete the Crime Analysis Certificate Program and want to earn the MACJ degree must apply and be accepted into the MACJ program. Up to 10 Certificate in Crime Analysis credits will apply to the MACJ degree. For more information about our graduation rates, please go to the website: www.seattleu.edu/artsci/criminal-graduate/cacp.

THE MACJ/CERTIFICATE PROGRAM

MAJC students and graduates who also wish to obtain the Certificate in Crime Analysis may apply up to 10 credits of their MACJ courses toward the 25-credit Certificate in Crime Analysis. Complete details are on our website.

THE MACJ/JD DEGREE

The MACJ/JD joint degree program is designed for students seeking a solid background in criminal justice from a social science point of view as well as education and training in the practice of law. The joint degree curriculum focuses on the application of theory and research to criminal law and criminal justice policies and practices.

Students must be admitted separately to the School of Law and the College of Arts and Sciences. The joint degree program can usually be completed within a year for full-time students. Complete details are on our website.

"You can do just about anything you want to do in law enforcement—from corrections officer to victim advocate, to policymaker, to statistical analyst. Small class sizes and accessible faculty helped me get the job I wanted." Kathy Dockins, Office of Professional Standards, Everett Police Department
CRIMINAL JUSTICE FACULTY

Jacqueline B. Helfgott, Ph.D.
Department Chair
Areas of expertise: criminal behavior, psychopathy, offender reentry, and restorative justice

Elana Gummison, Ph.D.
MACJ and CAPC Graduate Director
Areas of expertise: criminology, female offending patterns, corrections, and offender reentry

Peter Collins, Ph.D.
Areas of expertise: evaluation research, substance abuse treatment, policy analysis, and criminal justice organizations

Matthew Hickman, Ph.D.
Areas of expertise: law enforcement, police integrity and ethics, research methods and statistics, and criminological theory

William Parkin, Ph.D.
Areas of expertise: ideologically motivated violence, victimization, and criminal justice

Stephen K. Rice, Ph.D.
Areas of expertise: criminological theory, social patterning of emotions in the CJ system, police legitimacy, community capacity

Derek Knutson, Ph.D.
Areas of expertise: evaluation research and statistics, and criminological theory

Matthew Hickman, Ph.D.
Areas of expertise: law enforcement, police integrity and ethics, research methods and statistics, and criminological theory

Peter Collins, Ph.D.
Areas of expertise: evaluation research, substance abuse treatment, policy analysis, and criminal justice organizations

Elaine Gunnison, Ph.D.
Areas of expertise: criminology, female offending patterns, corrections, and offender reentry

The Criminal Justice Department at Seattle University is one of only eight departments in the United States with programs certified by the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences. This certification acknowledges the strengths of our programs, our scholarships, and our teaching.
ADMISSIONS CRITERIA
We accept only a limited number of students in each program. You will be asked to provide letters of recommendation, resume, writing sample, and a statement of purpose. In addition you must meet the following qualifications:
- Bachelor’s degree from an accredited institution
- Minimum 3.0 grade point average
- Successful completion of an undergraduate statistics course

DEADLINES FOR ADMISSION
MACJ: March 15 for September start
Certificate in Crime Analysis: applications accepted throughout the year

CRIMINAL JUSTICE FACULTY
Matthew Hickman, Ph.D.,
Department Chair
Areas of expertise: law enforcement, police integrity and ethics, research methods and statistics, and criminological theory
Jacqueline B. Hallpont, Ph.D.,
Director Crime and Justice Research Center
Areas of expertise: criminal behavior, psychopathy, offender reentry, and restorative justice
Eliene Gunison, Ph.D.,
MACJ and CACP Graduate Director
Areas of expertise: criminology, female offending patterns, corrections, and offender reentry
Peter Collins, Ph.D.
Areas of expertise: evaluation, research, substance abuse treatment, policy analysis, and criminal justice organizations
William Parkinson, Ph.D.
Areas of expertise: ideologically motivated violence, victimization, and criminal justice
Stephen K. Rice, Ph.D.
Areas of expertise: criminological theory, social patterning of emotions in the CJ system, police legitimacy, community capacity

Selected for their experience and expertise, adjunct faculty from these agencies have taught in our programs:
- Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms, and Explosives
- FBI
- King County Sheriff’s Office
- Seattle Police Department
- Seattle Municipal Court
- Snohomish County Sheriff’s Office
- U.S. Secret Service
- U.S. Marshals Service
- U.S. Probation and Pretrial Services
- Washington State House of Representatives
- Washington State Department of Corrections
- Washington State Department of Social and Health Services

MEMBERS OF OUR ADVISORY COMMITTEE
support our program through program evaluation, mentoring, and student internships and research assistantships. Advisory Committee members come from federal, state, county, and local law enforcement, social service agencies, and organizations involved in civil liberties, public policy, and victim advocacy. For a complete list of members of the Advisory Committee, please go to our website.

CONTACT INFORMATION
GRADUATE ADMISSIONS OFFICE
901 12th Avenue
P.O. Box 222000
Seattle, WA 98122-1090
Phone: 206-296-5480
Email: grad-admissions@seattleu.edu
Website: www.seattleu.edu/graduate-admissions
Toll Free Outside WA: 1-800-542-0833

LAW STUDENT FINANCIAL SERVICES
Phone: 206-295-6460
Email: financial.services@seattleu.edu
Website: www.law.seattleu.edu
Email: lawadmis@seattleu.edu
Website: www.law.admissions.seattleu.edu
Phone: 206-398-4200
Email: lawadmis@seattleu.edu
Website: www.law.admissions.seattleu.edu

In 2012, Seattle University received the Presidential Award for community service, the highest recognition by the federal government to a college or university for civic engagement, service learning, and volunteers. Our criminal justice programs are rooted in a vision dedicated to improving the quality of life for people in our community and everywhere across the globe.

Non-discrimination Policy
Seattle University is committed to ensuring that no person is excluded from participation in, denied the benefits of, or subjected to discrimination in any University program or activity on the basis of race, creed, color, national origin, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, medical history or disability. Seattle University is an equal opportunity employer, and an affirmative action employer. Inquiries relating to these policies may be referred to the University’s Vice President for Human Resources and University Services and Equal Opportunity Officer at 206-296-6066, or to the U.S. Department of Education’s Office for Civil Rights at 206-296-7703, or to the Title IX Coordinator at 206-296-7700.

All University policies, practices and procedures are administered in a manner consistent with Seattle University’s Catholic and Jesuit identity and consistent with applicable federal, state and local laws. Seattle University is accredited by the Northwest Commission on Colleges and Universities. The Seattle University Academic Affairs Office is responsible for the administration of all University policies. Designated individuals responsible for investigating and referring University Title IX complaints. Students or employees with concerns in compliance with University policies and procedures should contact the Office of Professional and Organizational Development, Equal Opportunity Office, Title III Coordinator, Human Resources Department, Human Resources Department Office, Title IX Coordinator, Human Resources Department, 1800 E. Westlake Ave., Suite 320, Seattle, WA 98101; Office of Professional and Organizational Development, Equal Opportunity Office, Title III Coordinator, Human Resources Department, Human Resources Department Office, Title IX Coordinator, Human Resources Department, 1800 E. Westlake Ave., Suite 320, Seattle, WA 98101.

The Criminal Justice Department at Seattle University is one of only eight departments in the United States with programs certified by the Academy of Criminal Justice Sciences. This certification acknowledges the strengths of our programs, our scholarship, and our teaching.