Center for Social Transformation and Leadership announces the launch of its professional development series exploring the evolving leadership and innovation needs of social sectors.

These courses are geared toward professionals from across the education, business, foundations and nonprofit community who are interested in developing the skills to effectively adapt to change and empower social transformation.

The courses will be offered in a hybrid format with two web-based synchronous sessions (week 1 and 5), followed by online activities.

Empowering Leaders for Social Justice (3 credits)

Organizational Leadership in the Social Sector (3 credits)

Each course is designed for working professionals who are in K-12 administration, private business, health care, nonprofit or social enterprise organizations and aspiring social entrepreneurs looking to transition into social sector leadership.

Class date: January 7th - March 23th 2019
Tuition: $975 per class
Registration deadline: January 11th 2019
Register online: https://www.seattleu.edu/education/professional-development/professional-learning/