Because the administrative internship is a key element in the training of future principals, the collaboration between university and school is very important. This agreement constitutes the contract under which the above named student and the university supervisors will work together with local school personnel to assure the learning required under the Washington Administrative Code and the mission of the College of Education at Seattle University.

The Educational Administration program for principals qualifies successful candidates for the Washington State principal certificate. To achieve that certificate requires specific tasks of the intern and access to key information in the school setting (e.g., budgets, sample contracts, policymaking processes, administrative procedures, and relevant experience with governance structures).

The internship itself begins only when the following conditions have been met:
1. Intern has successfully completed a diagnostic assessment of the competencies for the internship.
2. Intern has developed a worksite analysis from observations and other data.
3. On-site supervisor, intern, and university supervisor have agreed to tentative plans for projects and administrative tasks required in the internship.
4. Local arrangements for access to appropriate records and policies have been made by the appropriate officials.

Approval at this time means (1) the opportunity for an internship will be available for the dates shown, and (2) the appropriate building principal will provide supervision of the internship in cooperation with the Seattle University supervisor.

We will provide the internship under the conditions described above.
We will provide the internship subject to these additional conditions:
We request that the intern postpone the experience until______________

In addition, We assert that the supervising principal meets the WAC requirement of a certified practitioner who is performing in the role for which certification is sought (WAC 181-78A-264).
