Washington Administrative Code requirements met [WAC 180-78A-165 (4)]

This course is developed to help students meet Washington State standards for the Educational Staff Associate Certificate required to be a school counselor. In addition, the course also aligns with HB 1670 law, stating the role of a school counselor in a comprehensive school counseling program.

KNOWLEDGE AND SKILLS OUTCOMES

COURSE OBJECTIVES

By the end of quarter students will:

1. Develop foundational knowledge of working in a K-12 school.
2. Understand the role of school counselors as change agents within the context of a school and community.
3. Identify as a counseling professional and can describe essential features of the counseling profession, including history, role, functions, and relevant professional organizations.
4. Describe professional credentialing, licensure, and public policy issues in counseling.
5. Use research and data to evaluate the school counseling program and counseling interventions.
6. Be able to describe the role of the school counselor in relation to a comprehensive school counseling program.
7. Articulate key features, benefits, goals, and objectives of a comprehensive school counseling program.
8. Articulate and documents how the school counseling program and counselor activities support the mission of the school and impact student learning.
9. Articulate the school counselor’s role as an active participant in the school improvement planning process to ensure a school climate that supports equitable learning for all students.
10. Design, deliver, and evaluate a student-centered, data-driven school counseling programs that advance the mission of the school in light of recognized theory, research, exemplary models, community context, and professional standards.
11. Be able to describe components of the ASCA National Model.
12. Be knowledgeable of, and integrates academic, career, and personal/social student competencies, including Washington State Learning Goals, Essential Academic Learning Requirements, and Grade Level Expectations, into the school counseling program.
13. Address a variety of diversity issues that impact student’s academic, career, and personal/social potential.
14. Understand their role as social justice change agents in a K-12 system.

COURSE INSTRUCTIONAL METHODS

This course employs a range of instructional methods to promote high-quality learning. Methods include the use of (a) cooperative learning; (b) interactive problem solving; (c) collaborative and individual reflection and decision making; (d) analysis of scholarly literature, educational resources, community resources, and multimedia material; (e) small-group and whole-class discussion, and (f) the use of multimedia.

A. Attendance and Participation

This course is organized around the idea of a ‘learning community’, which means that each student’s contributions to our collective learning are as important as her or his individual projects. These contributions to the whole usually show up as ‘participation’, but they also depend on careful preparation for class discussion (readings), and willingness to foster meaningful dialogue during class, including small group discussions. Participation is graded based on a range from low (just showing up – 10 pts), medium (showing up prepared and contributing something relevant or meaningful sometimes – 17 pts) to high (showing up prepared and contributing something relevant and meaningful often all of the time – 20 pts). You are expected to attend every class; missing two or more classes will result in an ‘F’ in the course.

B. Written Reading Reflections - 20 points (2 points per week)

Readings are required. You are expected to come to class prepared to discuss the reading for the week. After each reading, you are to:

- Write one question, comment, or argument (for each week’s readings) that occurs to you during your reading that you would like to have discussed in class. Display thoroughly that you have read the text. We will explore these reflection questions, comments, or arguments in different ways each class.
- Your reflections on the readings are intended to offer you an opportunity to discuss in class the content of the readings that you found most provocative, challenging, or useful (e.g., what stirred your imagination or challenged your assumptions; what surprised you?)
- Your reflections are also your opportunity to find the answers to questions raised by the readings. That is, if there is something you do not fully understand or are curious about, create a question to be discussed in class. Questions, however, should not be simplistic or easily answered by the readings, e.g., What does ASCA stand for? This question is easily answered by the text and does not reflect critical thinking about the subject matter.

- Your writing will be assessed according to the reading reflection rubric.
- These responses and any relevant notes taken during class will be turned in during the class period and graded for completion, not for content. All notes will be returned to students in the subsequent week.

C. School Counseling Observation and Interview Summative Assignment – 50 points

The School Counseling Observation and Interview summative assignment is used to determine student knowledge and skills in the Foundations of School Counseling CACREP specialty area. Students who fail a summative assignment (receive a rating scale of 2 or below) are required to meet with the issuing faculty. Such students are either placed on a developmental plan or dismissed from the program.

Evaluation Process

The professor will complete the following rubric to assess student foundations of school counseling knowledge and skills. Points correspond to the rating scale.

Directions:

Each student will interview a school counselor of their choosing. Find out the joys and difficulties/obstacles the counselor encounters in their work. Ask questions that would help you understand more about counseling and the particular field of school counseling. Use the questions included below in the syllabus.

- The Interview Report should include a summary of the information received for each question, your personal reactions to that information, and a brief summary of the experience in general (i.e., your thoughts and feelings about the interview, the counselor, and what you observed.)
• School Counselor Interview Questions:

1. How many school counselors are in your school (ask this question if not found online/other sources)?
2. What are the minimum requirements for being a school counselor at your school/district?
3. How many staff members are in the school counseling office?
4. What is the counselor/student ratio at your school?
5. What types of counseling activities do you perform in your role as the school counselor? Would you say that they are aligned with the ASCA National Model? If so, how? If not, how not? (this is a great chance to ask about the development of the CSCP and alignment with SB5030)
6. What is/are your favorite, least favorite counseling activities, and why?
7. On average, how long are individual and/or group counseling sessions?
8. What type of paperwork is involved in performing your responsibilities as the school counselor?
9. How does your office deal with ethical and legal concerns such as confidentiality, counselor training, counselor competence, etc.?
10. How is your school counseling program funded?
11. What is the starting salary for a certified school counselor in your school system (find this information online if this is a public school)?
12. What is the salary range in your school system (find this information online if this is a public school)?
13. How many years of experience do you have as a school counselor, and what are your credentials?
14. What recommendations or advice would you give to a newly hired school counselor with no experience?
15. (At least one additional question created by the student.)

E. Group project: Intervention Plan – 20 points

Part A: Define the group dynamic and explain the need (20 points - 2-4 pages)

Soft Due Date: October 19 (Week 5)

Groups will be formed to address a hypothetical need in a K-12 school. The group, acting as a team of school counselors in a school building, will create an intervention plan using the knowledge of MTSS and the school counselor’s role. The instructor will provide common needs or the group is free to come up with their own. The problem can be real or imagined, as long as the problem being presented is realistic. Feel free to use your imagination. Groups will check in with each other throughout the quarter to get feedback, insight, and support. Remember: some needs affect a small number of students, other affect the school as a whole. Some impact staff, others impact the community. Every intervention plan will have a different need, population, and intended audience.

1. Group roles: what will each member do/contribute to this project?
2. Be specific in the description of the need and the student population:
3. For example, “graduation rates are dropping at Lincoln High School” is not specific enough. “The graduation rates of Black and Latino boys at Lincoln High School have dropped an average of 3% annually since 2016.” tells a more detailed and intersectional story of who is needing intervention.

4. Use of data: how do you know this is a problem? What data did you use? What did the data show? How was the data collected?

5. What does the problem look like compared to other schools - locally, regionally, nationally?

6. What does the research literature say about this issue? ASCA? WSCA?

Common needs in K-12 schools:
- Graduation rates
- Mental health: suicidal ideation, eating disorders, stress/anxiety
- Housing insecurity
- Suspension/discipline rates
- School refusal (and/or truancy)
- Sense of belonging
- Postsecondary access/knowledge
- Bullying/Harassment
- Sexual assault prevention
- Relationships
- Executive functioning: organization, navigation of systems

Part B: Create an intervention plan (minimum 3 pages with addendums if necessary)

Additionally, each group will create a detailed and complete intervention plan. The paper should reflect how you as a school counselor would address this problem. Inspiration Questions:

1. What is your intervention strategy - be detailed! (for example, if your intervention is classroom guidance, provide an outline of the presentation and the source of your content for the presentation)

2. Through the lens of MTSS, what tier does this fall under?

3. What is your delivery system?

4. What is your data strategy? How will you understand the efficacy of your intervention?

5. Who are the stakeholders needed to implement the intervention? What other staff members do you need to implement the intervention?

6. What are the obstacles/concerns in implementing this intervention? How will you navigate equity and access in the implementation of this intervention (MLL, IEP, 504, MKV students, for example)

Your group will turn in a complete write-up of the intervention plan, including answering the questions listed in parts A and B, and any addendums (an example of an addendum would be the outline of the presentation you’re delivering to staff if that is your intervention to address graduation rates). The format of the paper is flexible, as long as it thoroughly explains the need and the intervention.

Part C: Presentation of the project

Each group will present a 7-15 minute summary of their problem, process, and intervention plan in Week 9 or 10. The audience will have an opportunity to provide feedback.

F. Position Paper – 10 points

The student will engage in self-exploration and honest confrontation of their strengths and challenges for becoming a school counselor. Through critical thinking, personal reflection, and conceptualization of principles and issues in assigned readings, the student will create a position paper (APA 6th Edition compliant). The student will be graded on their ability to clearly and fully express ideas. Depth of thinking, critical evaluation, independent judgment, insights into issues, practical knowledge, and organization will produce a quality paper. Address each question or issue within .5 to 1 pages (no longer than 4 total pages).

1. How will your cultural background, cultural values, and life experiences impact you in counseling students who are culturally different from you?
2. Pretend that you are interviewing for a school counseling position. How would you answer the following questions (keep in mind most interviews allow for 1-2 minutes per question)?
   a. Why do you want to be a school counselor?
   b. How do you see the role and function of the school counselor?
3. What is your most pressing concern as you think of yourself in the process of becoming a school counselor?
4. Evaluate how you have grown and changed during this term. What are the most important things you have learned so far in the relationship to becoming a school counselor?

COURSE EXPECTATIONS

Assignments: All assignments are due either prior to the beginning of class (reading reflections) or by midnight of the due date. Late assignments will not be accepted. All assignments must be successfully completed to pass the class. Exceptions may be made in emergency situations.

Attendance: Due to the experiential nature of this course, and the content covered in classes, attendance is required for all classes. Missing a class and/or having a pattern of tardiness/absences will result in a lower grade or possibly an “F”. One unexcused absence will result in the drop of a ½ letter grade (e.g., A to A-), unless for documented medical emergencies. Having a pattern of absences (2 or more) will result in an “F” grade for the class. If you intend to miss two or more classes you will need to drop the course.

Cell phones and Computer Policy: The expectation is that all students in the class have the capacity and ability to be professional and present while class is in session. Please be respectful of presenters, including classmates and colleagues. Do not be completely reliant on your computer and ready to participate with paper and a writing utensil when needed. The instructor has the right to modify or review this policy as needed.

Readings: All assigned readings are to be completed prior to the beginning of class. This will enhance class discussions and understanding of course material. I will assume you have not read the assigned chapters and articles if you do not turn in a reflection. This would then impact both your participation and reading reflection point totals.

Written Work: All written work is to be typed, double-spaced and adheres to APA style 6th edition guidelines (unless otherwise specified).

<td>Somewhat clear that relevant information from the readings was understood by incorporation into questions/comments/arguments. Applies relevant course concepts, theories correctly but lacks sophistication or critical analysis; uses examples or supporting evidence from required readings.</td>
<td>Very clear that relevant information from the readings was understood by incorporation into questions/comments/arguments. Sophisticated analysis and/or application of course concepts, theories or materials; uses examples or supporting evidence from required readings.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>

*A mean score will be determined from the composite score.
*Example: If two out of the three reflections are Exemplary (3 points X 2 reflections = 6) and one is Accomplished (2 points) your composite score is 8 points. A mean will be calculated from the total score: 8 points divided by 3 reflections = 2.66, and rounded to the nearest half = 2.5 (mean scores will be rounded to the nearest half or full point in either direction).
