To the 2021 Graduates of Seattle University,

Congratulations to each one of you upon your graduation from Seattle University. Today represents the fulfillment of a commitment on your part and several years of dedication. Rejoice in this day of celebration and remember it as an encouragement in your lives and in your careers of service.

Congratulations also to all those who supported you and walked with you in these years: your families, friends, professors, advisors, mentors and classmates. You, our graduates, did not get to this day alone or unaccompanied. Express your thanks to those who helped you attain this achievement and who share in your pride and joy.

This graduation is a very special one for me because I too “graduate” after 24 years as president of Seattle U and go forth as you do to whatever is next in life. You are my “graduation class” and I have looked forward to this day of celebration with you. The undergraduate class of 2021 will find my name scribbled on your banner from four years ago. I often say to others that I feel I have received the best education of anyone at Seattle U. I am filled with gratitude to all who are part of this university but especially to the students who give us our true character and identity. Thank you.

When I am asked what I most hope for our graduates I say, “I hope that they will live lives of gratitude.” Fewer than one in ten in our world have the degrees you are receiving, have had the opportunities of this kind of education, of formation and leadership, of rich and deep relationships with classmates, of inspiration of faculty and staff, of learning how to serve justice and equity. These are good reasons for living “lives of gratitude.”

There is another reason to live “lives of gratitude.” Brother David Steindl-Rast says it well: “In daily life, we must see that it is not happiness that makes us grateful. It is gratefulness that makes us happy.” I am confident that you deeply believe that the choice you have each day to be grateful has the power to transform your life into one of happiness and joy. We can’t wait for good times to makes us grateful, but we can choose to be grateful and it will make our lives, whatever they are, fulfilling and meaningful.

As your president and as a priest I end my message to you on our graduation with my prayer for God’s blessing of you this day and all days as alumni of Seattle University.

Blessings and thanks.
Sincerely,

Stephen V. Sundborg, S.J.

Founded in 1891, Seattle University is a Jesuit Catholic institution that today is among the most racially and culturally diverse, the most genuinely urban and the largest multidisciplinary independent university of the Northwest.

Inspired by the Catholic intellectual tradition and the Jesuit philosophy of education, Seattle University forms independent critical thinkers rooted in the humanities and open to finding God in all things. Responding to the Jesuit imperative that calls for “the service of faith and the promotion of justice,” Seattle University students are challenged to address issues of poverty, injustice, discrimination, violence and environmental degradation with competence, compassion and creativity.

At the heart of every undergraduate, graduate and professional program at Seattle University is an intellectually rigorous education delivered by excellent faculty whose attentiveness as teachers is rivaled only by their commitment to generating new knowledge as scholars. In partnership with their students, Seattle University’s dedicated faculty and their colleagues create a vibrant, educational experience that comes alive in the classroom, campus and community and develops character and leadership.

As SU President Stephen V. Sundborg, S.J., has often said, “Only the alumni of Seattle University can tell us whether we are fulfilling our mission.” It is through their actions that our alumni most clearly attest to the power of an SU education. They are leaders in banking and business, in publishing and politics, nursing and nonprofits, engineering and education. Today, we welcome our newest graduates into a special group of women and men who are excelling in their professions and working to build a more just and humane world.
Seattle University is pleased to welcome Greg Boyle, S.J., as its 2021 commencement speaker and proud to present to him an honorary doctorate.

Fr. Boyle has worked for more than three decades in the Los Angeles area providing training and support to those previously incarcerated and formerly involved with gangs. He is the nationally renowned founder of Homeboy Industries and is well known for speaking about the issues these men and women face in overcoming their pasts as they reimagine a future as contributing members of their communities.

The author of Tattoos on the Heart, which has been widely used in our curriculum and more recently Barking to the Choir, Fr. Boyle has previously spoken at Seattle University to a packed house at Pigott Auditorium. He is an advocate for justice, represents the mission and values of our university and engages in issues important to us.

UNIVERSITY HONORS PROGRAM

The Seattle University Honors Program was founded in 1958.
