Job Title: Speaker

Job Location: First Congregational Church of Maltby, 21111 86th Avenue SE, Snohomish, WA 98296

Number of Positions Open: One per Sunday. Several openings in March a many after that.

Salary Range: $150 per sermon

Job Description: Our minister retired at the end of the year. We are looking for qualified individuals to provide Sunday services. The type of person we are looking for should be able to talk to all and demonstrate Christ's love. For a small church with about 20 regular attendees, we are diverse in theological beliefs and folks are primarily over 60. Our church is located in the historical Maltby complex and has been active in the community since 1903. We are a non-credal Christian church affiliated with the National Association of Congregational Christian Churches and independent in nature. We could be an ideal opportunity for a seminary student that needs to do an internship or provide sermons in a church as a part of their studies. We could also be attractive to someone who is teaching, has other employment or is retired from ministry. Tolerance and support for a wide range of theological beliefs and knowledge is desired. It is important that the person know and respect the people who come on Sundays. Most are quite familiar with scripture and this person should be as well. Deep friendships exist in the church while newcomers are warmly welcomed. Usually there is a light meal after services and attendees are connected socially. Although our congregation has a broad spectrum of beliefs and individual backgrounds, we appreciate scripture based sermons.
