Fall Quarter (final): August 1

Winter Quarter (January start): November 1

Spring Quarter (March start): February 15

ABOUT THE PROGRAM

The Creative Writing program at Seattle University takes the stand that good readers make good writers. Rather than offering a stand-alone writing degree, the Seattle University English Department offers a literature-focused English major with a Creative Writing concentration in the belief that developing critical reading and analytical skills is essential to a writer's evolution. Emphasizing the craft of writing and the close reading of classic and contemporary texts, Seattle University's Creative Writing program includes core English classes in British, American and ethnic literature as well as writing courses in multiple genres, including fiction, poetry, creative non-fiction, and playwriting or screen writing.

Degrees offered: BA, BA with departmental honors
