Assistant Program Director – Online Clinical Mental Health Counseling program

January 2026 – Present

- Support strategic program operations, curriculum management, and acting as Program Director when needed for Seattle University's OCMHC program.
- Lead faculty support efforts, including onboarding and mentoring approximately 24 adjuncts per quarter, facilitating quarterly orientations and check-ins, and maintaining online faculty handbooks and instructional resources to ensure instructional effectiveness.
- Provide student engagement and advising leadership by mentoring students with academic or personal challenges, co-leading student-facing initiatives (e.g., Town Halls, DEI events), and supporting admissions interviews, orientations, and residency programming.

- Oversee curriculum and assessment processes by supporting CACREP alignment, reviewing Canvas courses for quality and inclusion, coordinating collection of SLOA/KPI data, and contributing to curriculum revisions and consistency across course sections.

CACREP Liaison

September 2024 – Present

- Serve as the primary point of contact between the Counseling program and CACREP, ensuring timely and accurate communication
- Manage all official correspondence from CACREP, including accreditation standards updates, policy changes, and requests for information.
- Disseminate critical CACREP information to program faculty, administrators, and students, ensuring program-wide awareness of accreditation requirements.
- Act as the knowledge resource within the program regarding CACREP accreditation standards and processes.
- Oversee the program's continuous compliance with CACREP accreditation standards and guidelines.
- Develop and implement systematic processes for collecting and organizing data required for accreditation.
- Conduct regular reviews of program curriculum, policies, and procedures to ensure alignment with CACREP standards.
- Ensure the program meets all annual reporting requirements and deadlines, including the Vital Statistics survey and fee payments
- Serve as the central organizer for the self-study process, managing timelines, assignments, and document preparation.
